

---

RE: David Hickox missing sources

2 messages

---

O. J. Hickox <hickox@haloisp.net>
To: jason.crews@gmail.com

Wed, Jun 19, 2013 at 12:02 PM

I strongly recommend you do that and get as much of a relationship established as you can before arrival. It would be good if you could convince one person to act as your single point-of-contact there. You need to appreciate that it has a small staff and they are usually pretty much swamped with requests for info. Members of the Society do get some priority over the general public and it would be a good idea to join before you begin your quest.

---

From: jasoncrews [<mailto:jason.crews@gmail.com>]
Sent: Saturday, June 15, 2013 11:48 AM
To: hickox@haloisp.net
Subject: RE: David Hickox missing sources

I am going to be visiting Georgia in a couple of months, but it's too bad that they are a little out of the way.

Do you think the librarians would be any help if I emailed them?

hickox@haloisp.net wrote:

-->

These are from Folks Huxford's "Pioneers of Wiregrass Georgia", Volume V, pages 202 & 203, published 1967. While Judge Huxford did not cite primary sources in the book, I believe they were documented in his original files, now held at the Huxford Genealogical Society in Homerville GA. (<https://huxford.com/>). They may be willing to supply them for a fee.

From: jasoncrews [<mailto:jason.crews@gmail.com>]
Sent: Saturday, June 08, 2013 1:01 AM
To: hickox@haloisp.net
Subject: David Hickox missing sources

The following facts are either not cited, or cited only by secondary sources. Have you located any primary sources for this information?

§ Source of family history for ancestry.com

§ David was born 13 January 1798

§ David married Sarah Altman in 1828

§ Sarah was born in 1812, Wayne County Georgia

§ David served as Justice of peace of the 590th district, Ware County, 1833-1841

§ This section of Ware where he lived was cut into Pierce County in its formation partly out of Ware in 1858, and into Brantley County in 1920

§ He was a private in the Indian War, serving in Capt. James Jones' company, Ware County militia, Aug. 26th to September 15, 1840

§ They were originally members of High Bluff Church into which they were received and baptized March 10, 1841

§ Four years later when the church "on the Buffalo" was organized nearer their home, they were dismissed by letter from the High Bluff Church Jan. 11, 1845, to enter join New Hope Church.

§ David died 24 Feb 1887 in Brantly County

§ The Hickox home and farm was located between the present town of Hoboken and the village of Hickox.

§ To them were born 21 children, of whom apparently six died at birth or in infancy.

Sent to hickox@haloisp.net — Unsubscribe

164 W. Laurel Ct Gilbert, AZ 85233 USA

Delivered by

---

Jason Crews <jason.crews@gmail.com>
To: the1gofer.4ba96@m.evernote.com

Mon, Mar 10, 2014 at 2:39 PM

[Quoted text hidden]

--

Jason Crews